DeSoto relays face test at annual meet

Track powerhouse hasn't lost a step on boys, girls teams

> By RANDY JENNINGS Special Contributor

Retooling the DeSoto girls and boys track and field teams, thus far a giant success, undergoes its harshest examination yet this weekend at the 53rd edition of the Jesuit-Sheaner Relays.

DeSoto accomplished the double last May with a girlsboys sweep of the Class 6A championships at the UIL state meet.

Even after numerous contributors graduated, girls coach June Villers and boys coach Donald Miller have dipped into a seemingly bottomless talent pool to restock.

The meet's namesake, Herb Sheaner, said he is impressed with DeSoto's ability to rebuild.

"Coach Villers comes up with top freshmen to replace top seniors," said Sheaner, organizer of the initial Jesuit Relay in 1964 and still active as a member of the meet's games committee.

"Coach Miller, in my way of thinking, takes boys that sat on the bench last year to replace graduated seniors, and they are now running better times than last year."

Villers' Lady Eagles have three state crowns and a runner-up finish in the last four state meets.

DeSoto graduated all four members of the 2016 girls state champion 4x100 relay, yet is ranked in the top five nationally in all three relays. Among area teams, DeSoto is No. 1 in the 4x200 and 4x400 and second to Mesquite Horn in the 4x100.

The DeSoto boys' 4x400 relay is ranked No. 1 nationally by MileSplit.com, having already posted a time of 3 minutes, 11.52 seconds. The Eagles are ranked third nationally in the 4x100 and seventh in the 4x200.

In 2012, DeSoto established Jesuit-Sheaner boys record times that still stand in the 4x100 and 4x200. The meet's 4x400 relay record time of 3:14.81, set by Paris in 1991, appears at risk.

	Sr.	Ranked No. 4 nationally in triple jump (48-7).
	Sr.	5A state champ pole vaulter, Ole Miss signee is No. 6 nationally.
	Sr.	UTEP signee long-jumped 24-8.5 and is No.1 nationally.
	Sr.	West Point signee leads area in 110 hurdles (13.93).

Boys teams to watch

DeSoto: Defending Class 6A state champion is strong again in all three relays, including a national No. 1-ranked 4x400. Lancaster: Tied for second at 5A state meet last year and return two from victorious 4x400 relay that ranks second in the area. Waxahachie: Building on its tie for second at 2016 5A state, Waxahachie owns the area's best times in the 4x100 and 4x200 relays.

Girls teams to watch

DeSoto: A powerhouse program that is once again built around three relays that are ranked among the top five nationally. McKinney North: Second-best area times in the 4x100 and 4x400 relays and No. 3 in the 4x200.

Mesquite Horn: Sixth at 6A state last year, the Lady Jaguars have an individual star in Kaylor Harris and feature a 4x100 relay that is ranked No.1 nationally.

best times in the boys 4x100 and 4x200, with DeSoto a close second in both followed by Lancaster. In the 4x400, Lancaster is second to DeSoto.

Nicknamed by some coaches "Texas Relays North," the Jesuit-Sheaner Relays is again loaded with highly pedigreed athletes. This year's entrants include 28 state gold-medal winners and eight All-American selections.

Over 150 schools from Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas will be represented. That's just the way Sheaner, track coach at Jesuit for two decades, likes it.

Other intriguing confrontations: ■ The longest-standing record in the meet belongs to one of Jesuit's own. In 1964 Mike Madigan won the long jump with a mark of 24 feet, 5 inches. That record could be in jeopardy. DeSoto's Fredrick Williams has already gone 24-8¹/₂ this season. Marquis Goodwin, who went on to set the national high school record in 2009 while competing for Rowlett, came up an inch and a quarter short in his try at Madigan's meet record.

■ Nicholas Alexander of Sachse heads a blistering group of 100-meter sprinters with a best time this spring of 10.39. Roman Turner, a senior at Other boys

Wichita Falls Hirschi, ran a 10.43 lastweekend. The meetrecord is 10.26 set by DaBryan Blanton of Forneyin 2002.

■ The girls 100 contains three entrants ranked in the top eight nationally: No. 3 Kaylor Harris of Mesquite Horn, No. 5 Cecily Edwards of Plano West and No. 8 Ja'Leesa Giles of Mansfield Legacy. Harris, No. 3 in the 100 hurdles, will go against a field that includes No. 10 Antoinette Bradley of De-Soto.

■ Pole vaulter Christian Patterson of Shawnee, Okla., has cleared 16 feet, 2 inches this spring. Peyton Weissman of Grapevine went 16-6 to win the Class 5A state championship in 2016 and leads the area this season with a vault of 16-0. The 11year-old meet record is 16-8, set by Midlothian's Nick Frawley.

■ Gabe Oladipo of Fort Bend Hightower is chasing the state record in the discus. The Texas A&M signee recently hit the 207-foot mark. The state record is 215 feet, 2 inches. The meet record is 196-10. Area leader Caden McDonald of Justin Northwest will also compete.

Venus is losing its identity. After tonight, it will no longer be the "evening star." Instead, it will be the "morning star," as it crosses the line between Earth and the sun. This crossing is known as inferior conjunction, and it happens every 584 days. - by UT McDonald Observatory, 512-471-5285, www.as.utexas.edu/mcdonald/mcdonald.html

Let Baylor, UCLA star earn their moment

Headlines out of Waco, Bruin's overbearing dad shouldn't mar drama heering for UCLA's Lonzo Ball in Memphis or Baylor in Madison Square Garden should not come with a price. But it sure feels like it does.

As for the Bears, they are the top seed remaining in the East Region, thanks to the disappearance of Villanova and Duke. Yet it's still going to be quite an upset if Baylor works its way to the Final Four after

J ason Garrett was at American Airlines Center this week as the Mavericks lost to the Golden State Warriors. Tony Romo wasn't sitting next to him. The relationship between the two has become a source of fascination for Cowboys fans.

No time to lose

Mavs must deal with a rare sub-.500 season, keep on building

The last time the Mavericks had a losing season was in 1999-2000, when they went 40-42. But Mark Cuban doesn't count that, because he didn't officially buy the team until more than a third of that season had elapsed.

"We were 31-19 [after] I owned it," he said.

This year is different. The Mavericks are headed to a losing season, Thursday's 97-95 win over the Los Angeles Clippers notwithstanding.

Two more defeats will clinch it. And this is a feeling Cuban and everybody else in the organization would rather not have.

"It doesn't make me happy," Cuban said. "It's my first losing season since grade school. It is what it is. There's not a whole lot I can do. I guess I could go to Russia and ask them to hack the NBA [season] and put out some fake news."

Jokes won't help, either. The Mavericks still have 11 more games left, and the

Race for eighth

The Mavericks are running out of time to make a playoff push. With 11 games remaining, they trail the Denver Nuggets by three games. Here's a look at the contenders for the eighth and final playoff spot in the Western Conference:

Team	W-L	GB
8. Denver	34-37	_
9. Portland	33-38	1
10. Dallas	31-40	3
11. New Orleans	30-41	4

With Romo's fate in limbo, it's become evident he and Garrett haven't been sighted in public the way they have in previous offseasons.

Surprising? Not really. The split, delayed as the Cowboys seek a trade partner, remains inevitable. Human nature dictates that Romo and Garrett put some emotional distance between themselves before the quarterback is out the door.

But the distance between Romo and the Cowboys head coach began to grow well before the offseason was underway.

Romo and Garrett share a bond few can claim. Both have played quarterback in the NFL. Both possess an analytical eye for the position, a love of competition and an appreciation for sports that extends beyond football.

But it's a relationship born of their employment by the Cowboys. It's a friendship that's become frayed by circumstance the way it would in any workplace where one party reports to the other.
